Fran and Bill James, Lummi

1982

Wool

Che Top le (Fran) James was raised by her grandmother on the Lummi Indian reservation. Coming from a long line of basket weavers, Fran devoted her life to carrying on the tradition—leaving a legacy of weavers she has taught, including her son.

Born a hereditary Lummi chief, Tsi'li'xw (Bill) James continues this practice as a master weaver and teacher of traditional weaving skills. Prayers of gratitude are offered for the natural materials gathered to supply their beautiful woven art pieces.
