

Hangi, a Chief's Daughter at Tattesko near Bocarelli Sound, N.W. Coast of America

Personal and clan adornment was paramount—stemming from the bold visual declarations of identity and intent between cultural groups with divergent languages on the northern Northwest Coast. Tattoo and body piercing distinguished individuals with designs while garments and headdresses extended those distinctions.

The wife and child of Hatzia, a chief in Port Rose South End of Queen Charlotte's Island

Drawings and sketches made during a voyage around the world, 1791-1795, by Sigismund Bacstrom.
Beinecke Rare Book and Manuscript Library, Yale University

The Wife and Child of Hatzia, a Chief in Port Rose South End of Queen Charlotte's Island, Lat: 52, 20 N?

Sigismund Bacstrom ad. del. 1793. fec. 1797.